Middle Level Commissioners and administered Internal Drainage Boards (IDBs) Culverting Policy

GENERAL

1. This culverting policy applies to the Middle Level Commissioners (MLC) and the IDBs administered from the Middle Level Offices. Details of those IDBs are given in the attached Schedule. Within the MLC area, where both the MLC and a local IDB have jurisdiction, applications for consent to install a culvert will be considered by the local IDB rather than the MLC.
2. This policy applies to applications to install a culvert whether made under section 23 Land Drainage Act 1991 or under MLC/IDB byelaws.
3. Applications to install culverts under section 23 Land Drainage Act 1991 are made to MLC/IDBs as appropriate inside their rateable districts. Details of the areas of such districts can be found at www.middlelevel.gov.uk. Outside such districts such applications should be made to the Lead Local Flood Authorities Cambridgeshire or Norfolk County Councils or Peterborough City Council (as appropriate).
4. The MLC/IDBs are in general opposed to the culverting of watercourses because of the adverse flood defence, ecological and other effects that are likely to arise. In addition, the majority of the MLC watercourses are statutory navigations and culverting would not be permitted as it would also prejudice the public right of navigation.

The MLC/IDBs will therefore only approve an application to culvert a watercourse if there is no reasonably practicable alternative, if to leave the watercourse unculverted would lead to increased flood risk, or if the detrimental effects of culverting would be so minor that they would not justify an alternative being considered.

5. In all cases, where it is appropriate to do so, adequate mitigation must be provided for damage caused or storage removed. Wherever appropriate the MLC/IDBs will support the restoration of culverted watercourses to open channels. The onus will in every case be on the applicant for a culvert consent to demonstrate that there is no increase in flood risk caused by his proposals.

6. Justification for Culverting Policy

- (i) The MLC/IDBs consider it beneficial for watercourses to remain open wherever possible for both flood defence and environmental purposes although it is recognised that culverting may be beneficial within heavily urbanised areas, provided that such culverts are of an appropriate size and design and are properly maintained. Culverting can exacerbate the risk of flooding, increase maintenance requirements and create difficulty in pollution detection. It can also destroy wildlife habitats, damage a natural amenity and interrupt the continuity of a watercourse.

Loss of environmental features

- (ii) Culverting can have a detrimental impact on the environment, resulting in a complete loss of features within a watercourse. The continuity of the watercourse corridor may be broken, adversely affecting the landscape and ecological value of the watercourse for migrating species. An existing or potential amenity is also lost for present and future generations. In addition the requirements of the Water Framework Directive that water bodies should meet (as appropriate) Good Ecological Status or Potential may be prejudiced.

7. Increased likelihood of flooding from blockages

- (i) Compared with an open channel there is an increased risk of blockage once a culvert is installed. If the blockage occurs within the culvert, there is much greater difficulty in removing it.
- (ii) Flooding is more likely to result from culverts when they become obstructed, and culverted channels also provide less flood storage than open ones. Where culverts exist, proper arrangements must exist to remove the build up of debris at the culvert entrance/exit.
- (iii) Culverting will create a less permeable bed to a watercourse and often increases the speed of water flow, possibly increasing flood risk downstream.

8. Increased difficulties in providing new drainage connections, and the repair, maintenance and replacement of culverts

- (i) Drainage connections are more easily made to open watercourses where the performance of such systems can be visually monitored.
- (ii) Culverts conceal the presence of a watercourse and can lead to development or unacceptable land-use above or near them. In many urban areas buildings have been constructed above or adjacent to culverts. This means that improving standards of flood protection or accommodating run-off from future developments could be impossible or uneconomic due to the cost of replacing or enlarging existing culverts.
- (iii) The responsibility for the condition and maintenance of a culvert lies with the landowner or the owner of the culvert unless other arrangements are in place. The responsible party must therefore ensure that the culvert remains in good condition and free from obstructions. It should also be remembered that the responsible party may also be or become responsible for uprating or increasing the size of the culvert to ensure that it continues to properly pass the proper flows of water. This may lead to considerable cost and inconvenience. Generally it is easier and cheaper to improve an open watercourse than a culvert. Failure to do so could result in liability for any damage caused by flooding. Access to culverts is generally safe only with the use of special procedures and equipment, making inspection and maintenance both difficult and costly.

9. Health and safety hazards

There are dangers associated with open watercourses but culverted watercourses can be equally dangerous. Culverting does not remove the risk of drowning or injury. There have been many cases in the past where children in particular have died or suffered injury after entering culverts and they therefore can represent a considerable safety hazard. Water levels can rise suddenly and without notice, and there can be a lack of oxygen or a build-up of potentially toxic or explosive gases in culverts. All these hazards are a danger both to the public and to operatives when maintenance is required. The installation of a weedscreen can reduce some of these dangers but weedscreen blockages can in turn lead to flooding and such screens need to be properly maintained and cleared.

10. Pollution and effect on water quality

- (i) Culverting a watercourse can make the early detection and tracing of pollution sources more difficult, resulting in the adverse impacts being perhaps more serious. However, they can also stop some types of pollution entering a wider drainage system.
- (ii) There is normally a reduction in oxygenation of water passing through a culvert. Culverting may also result in stagnant water problems, particularly if culvert levels are badly planned or constructed.

11. Consenting Process

- (i) The MLC/IDBs strongly encourage pre application discussions before making an application for consent to ensure that there are no delays in considering the matter. For pre application discussions see www.middlelevel.gov.uk/Planning/Planning_Consent_Documents/Pre-application_Enquiries. The MLC/IDBs will, if necessary reject an application if the application form is not properly completed. The consent application form and guidance is available from www.middlelevel.gov.uk/Planning/Planning_Consent_Documents.
- (ii) On receipt of a properly completed application form and appropriate fee, the MLC/IDBs will determine the application. As part of the process they may consult other organisations for example Environment Agency, or Natural England as appropriate.
- (iii) The MLC/IDBs will then determine the application, inform you of approval or rejection and where the application is approved will provide you with a copy of the consent and any appropriate informatives.

12. Do your works require consent?

- (i) The following works require ordinary watercourse consent from the relevant drainage authority under section 23 of the Land Drainage Act 1991, to:
 - a) erect any mill dam, weir or other like obstruction to the flow of any ordinary watercourse or raise or otherwise alter any such obstruction; or
 - b) erect a culvert in an ordinary watercourse; or
 - c) alter a culvert in a manner that would be likely to affect the flow of an ordinary watercourse.
- (ii) In addition, culverting works in watercourses maintained by the MLC/IDBs will require consent under the relevant authority's byelaws. The application form and process of consideration will be the same however. In addition it should also be noted that the byelaws also require the relevant authority's prior consent to any works in the channel of or within a certain distance (20 metres in the case of MLC and normally 9 metres in the case of the IDBs) (the byelaw distance) of such a watercourse.

13. What organisation should consent your works?

- (i) For works affecting a watercourse that falls within an Internal Drainage District then you will need to apply to the IDB responsible for that area.
- (ii) For works affecting a watercourse that falls outside an Internal Drainage District then you will need to apply to the Lead Local Flood Authority for the area (see 3 above) except in the case of a Main River.
- (iii) For works affecting Main Rivers the prior written consent of the Environment Agency is required for the erection of any structure in, over or under a main river, and consent for buildings over a culvert will usually be refused. The Agency also have byelaws which relate to Main Rivers and the byelaw distance relevant to such Rivers. Phone 03708 505 506 or visit www.environment-agency.gov.uk for further information on Main Rivers.
- (iv) To find out whether your watercourse is a Main River or within an Internal Drainage District visit www.middlelevel.gov.uk for further information.

14. Guiding principles

- (i) In considering any culverting proposals, our principal objective is to retain open watercourses with a corridor of open land on both sides. This maintains a flood channel and creates a valuable environmental feature which can enhance the site and be easily maintained. Developers will also be encouraged to incorporate existing open watercourses, or create new ones, together with access strips to facilitate the maintenance of such watercourses within their site design. Such features are of particular importance to wildlife by providing valuable open land in developed areas. Where possible, the removal of culverts will be encouraged to restore or replicate a more natural watercourse environment.
- (ii) Those proposing to culvert a watercourse are encouraged to find alternatives which retain the open watercourse as a feature. Examples include:
 - clear open span bridges with existing banks and bed retained;
 - revision of site layout to incorporate an open watercourse;
 - diversion of the watercourse in an environmentally sympathetic channel and corridor.
- (iii) In some cases culverting may be desirable or unavoidable for example, short lengths for access purposes. In such cases the length involved should be restricted to the minimum required to meet the objectives.
- (iv) Where an application for a culvert is to be made it is advised that the applicant enters into pre application discussions with the relevant authority (see 11 above) and seeks expert advice before submitting any designs. The applicant should consider the following:
 - They must not increase the risk of flooding or prevent/restrict maintenance of the adjacent open watercourse.

- All culverts should be designed and constructed so as to accommodate and not to cause restriction to flood flows in the watercourse at the specified location.

15. Technical requirements

Design and Method Statement

- (i) Detailed design plans, a flood risk assessment, an environmental assessment and a method statement for the proposed works will need to be submitted with the consent application. The MLC/IDBs will reject an application where there is insufficient information provided.

Maintenance

- (ii) The responsibility for future maintenance and clearance of a culvert must be clearly set out. Details of those responsible and a formal maintenance regime must be submitted with your application for consent. The responsibility for the maintenance of a culvert lies with the landowner or the person who owns the culvert unless other arrangements have been made (see 8 above).
- (iii) Suitable access arrangements for maintenance should be included in the design. Access chambers must be provided at each change of direction if the culverting is not straight. Sharp bends should be avoided. The maximum spacing between access chambers should not exceed 90 metres, 45 metres for pipes of 300mm diameter or less.

Size Requirements

- (iv) The minimum recommended culvert size will vary according to the size of the watercourse but culverts smaller than a 600mm diameter pipe or equivalent will not normally be permitted. For long culverts under embankments or similar structures, culverts with at least 1.5m of headroom above bed level should be used to facilitate access for inspection and maintenance.

16. Technical guidance

- (i) To ensure that the flow of the watercourse is not impeded or altered the following should be taken into account:
 - The shape of the culvert and the materials used for construction should be chosen to satisfy site-specific requirements in terms of channel hydraulics, strength and durability, and should be appropriate to the local environment.
 - The use of differently shaped pipes or different cross-sectional details within a culvert length should be avoided unless adequate hydraulic transitions are incorporated into the design. Such transitions are also essential where works to extend an existing culvert are proposed.
 - Appropriate inlet and outlet structures should be provided in order to ensure smooth hydraulic transition and avoid erosion. Headwall arrangements at the upstream and downstream ends of a culvert should be suitably keyed into the bed and banks of the watercourse, and should be appropriate to the local environment.

- Over-sized pipes or box culverts should be used wherever possible to maximise the cross-section and capacity. Allowance should be made in the hydraulic design for freeboard.
 - Overland flood flow routes should be considered to cater for situations where the capacity of the culvert could be lost due to blockages or exceeded and if necessary incorporated within the design.
 - Multiple culverts must be avoided wherever possible. Multiple small culvert arrangements are prone to blockage by accumulation of waterborne debris at the inlet. MLC/IDBs do however, recognise that site conditions may prevent a single-pipe or box-culvert option being practical, in which case a single-span bridge design is recommended. Where multiple culverts are unavoidable, the presumption will be to refuse consent. In exceptional circumstances where consent is granted, a minimum number of culverts should be used and cutwaters should be provided between pipes at the culvert inlet. The design should also incorporate:
 - Depression of the invert of one culvert to carry low flows;
 - Facilities to enable temporary diversion of flows to allow inspection or maintenance of each culvert;
 - Inlet and outlet screens may be appropriate to prevent debris entering the culvert and causing clogging, or where there is a danger to public safety. If screens are included, they need to be sized and designed to reduce the risks of blocking and provision must be made for adequate cleansing and maintenance of such screens.
- (ii) Siphons are a source of continuous maintenance problems and should where possible be avoided.
- (iii) To mitigate against the potential for erosion of the watercourse:
- Culverts and outfall structures should be designed so that the exit velocities do not create erosion problems at the outlet and downstream and appropriate erosion prevention measures should be incorporated into the design.
 - On watercourses subject to severe erosion and siltation problems consideration should in addition be given to the provision of silt traps upstream of the culvert.
- (iv) Services (for example sewers, water mains etc) should not impinge into the cross-section of the culvert.
- (v) Clear and concise guidelines for the hydraulic design of culverts are contained within the publication CIRIA C689 – Culvert Design and Operation Guide – Visit www.ciria.org to download a copy.

17. Environmental considerations

- (i) Environmental mitigation should include appropriate consideration of the provision of:
- ledges running through very large culverts (approximately 500mm wide and 300mm above normal water level) to allow for the passage of mammals. Or the provision of appropriately located mammal underpasses close to the culvert.
 - ensuring that the height of the invert should not pose an obstruction to fish movement.
 - opening up a length of previously culverted watercourse elsewhere on the site, enhancing other lengths of the or another suitable watercourse, creation of a pond/marshy area, scrub/hedge planting.
 - the construction of headwalls and wingwalls in 'soft-engineering' or natural materials in keeping with the natural channel, where possible and sensible to do so.

18. Planning Considerations

- (i) Any consent granted by MLC/IDBs does not remove the need for planning permission where this is required and the grant of planning permission does not imply that consent will be granted by the relevant drainage authority or remove the need for such consent to be obtained. Nor does it give the right to enter or cross land in third party ownership.
- (ii) MLC/IDBs would normally object to a planning application and refuse land drainage consent in the following circumstances:
- for any building over a culvert as the culvert may, in the future, need to be repaired, replaced or up-rated if conditions in the catchment change. There is also the need to maintain an overland flow route if the culvert is blocked or its capacity exceeded
 - on conservation grounds for a development which proposes a culvert where there are reasonable alternatives. Such alternative solutions might include a revised site layout or an ecologically acceptable diversion of an open channel.

19. Definitions

- (i) Culvert – A covered channel or pipeline used to continue a watercourse or drainage path under an artificial obstruction.
- (ii) Cutwater – The wedge-shaped streamlined head of a bridge pier or other structure within a watercourse channel.
- (iii) Invert – The lowest internal surface or the floor of a culvert.
- (iv) Main River – Those watercourses shown as such on the statutory main river maps held by the Environment Agency and the Department of the Environment Food and Rural Affairs. Main river can include any structure or appliance for controlling or regulating the flow of water in or out of the channel other than those vested in or under the control of the MLC/IDBs.

- (v) Watercourse – Includes all rivers, streams, ditches, drains, cuts, dykes, sluices, sewers (other than public sewers) and passages through which water flows.

Fraud and Corruption Policy

INTRODUCTION

One of the basic principles of public sector organisations is the proper use of public funds. It is therefore important that all those working in the public sector are aware of the risk of wrongdoing and the means of enforcing the rules against it. The aim of this document is to set out the Board's/Commissioners' policy for suspected or detected irregularities.

POLICY

The Board/Commissioners are committed to a culture of honesty, openness and fairness. They are therefore also committed to the elimination of any fraud and corruption and to the rigorous investigation of any such cases and the punishment of those involved.

The Board/Commissioners actively encourage anyone having reasonable suspicion of irregularities to report them. It is also the policy of the Board/Commissioners that no person should suffer as a result of reporting reasonably held suspicions. Malicious reports will, however, be subject to the Disciplinary Procedure.

The Board/Commissioners will take all reasonable steps to recover fully all losses from those responsible in proven cases of fraud or corruption including all costs incurred in the pursuit of such action.

DEFINITIONS

The term 'Fraud' encompasses criminal offences involving the use of deception to obtain some benefit or to be to the detriment of some person or organisation.

Corruption, in its broadest sense, involves the taking of decisions for inappropriate reasons – e.g. awarding a contract to a friend, appointing employees for personal reasons, or the giving or accepting of gifts as an inducement to take some course of action on behalf of the organisation.

The Audit Commission defines Fraud as – “the intentional distortion of financial statements or other records by persons internal or external to the authority which is carried out to conceal the misappropriation of assets or otherwise for gain”.

Corruption is defined by the Commission as – “the offering, giving, soliciting or acceptance of an inducement or reward which may influence the action of any person”.

DISCOVERY OF FINANCIAL IRREGULARITIES

Financial irregularities can come to light in a number of ways. They are usually discovered as a result of:-

- Employees becoming aware of or suspecting that management controls are not being complied with
- Routine work, or Audit testing

- Information (tip-off) from a third party, internal or external to the organisation.

Any allegation, but particularly an anonymous one, should be treated with caution and discretion, because what appears to be suspicious circumstances may have a reasonable explanation. There is also a risk that some reports may be malicious. It must be remembered that those against whom allegations are made, are innocent until the contrary is shown.

Under no circumstances should information about any suspected irregularity be passed to a third party or to the media without the express authority of the Clerk or Internal Auditor

RESPONSIBILITY OF EMPLOYEES/MEMBERS

Employees or Members who are aware of, or suspect that a financial irregularity is taking place, or has taken place, have a duty to report their suspicions, since by doing nothing they may be implicating themselves. Employees should immediately inform their line manager. Members should immediately advise the Clerk and the Chairman or Vice Chairman of the Board. The only exception to this rule is where it is suspected that one of those named might be involved in the irregularity. In that event, the employee/member should advise the Internal Auditor.

Employees must not attempt to investigate suspected irregularities themselves, or discuss their suspicions other than with more senior managers in accordance with the Policy above.

Examples of the types of financial irregularity that might be suspected are:-

- Theft or abuse of property or funds
- Deception or falsification of records (e.g. fraudulent time or expense claims)

RESPONSIBILITIES OF MANAGERS

It is Management's responsibility in conjunction with internal audit to maintain control systems to ensure that the Board's/Commissioners' resources are properly applied in the manner, on the activities, and within the limits approved. This includes responsibility for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Where a report is received from an employee or other party of a suspected financial irregularity, the recipient should immediately inform the Clerk, who in turn will notify the Internal Auditor.

Line managers should not themselves attempt to undertake any detailed investigation of the possible irregularity and should not discuss their suspicions or those reported to them, other than with the Clerk and the Internal Auditor.

In cases of suspected irregularities, it is often necessary to suspend a suspect from duty. Any suspension will only take place in accordance with the Disciplinary Procedure. The purpose of suspension is to prevent any suggestion of a suspect having the opportunity to continue with the act complained of, falsify or destroy records, influence witnesses, etc. Suspension is not a punishment nor does it imply any fault or guilt on the part of the employee concerned.

RESPONSE

Upon receiving a report of suspected financial irregularity, the Internal Auditor will launch an investigation. The Auditor's conclusions and recommendations will be reported to the Clerk and the Chairman will be updated on the situation. A formal report will be made to the Board/Commissioners.

The Internal Auditor will confer with the Clerk to agree the action plan to be adopted in the light of the particular circumstances.

When a prima facie case of fraud or corruption has been established, the following procedure will apply regarding referral to the Police:-

- Minor cases of Misappropriation of Cash, etc.

In minor cases of suspected fraud and/or cash misappropriation by employees, as soon as reasonable evidence has been acquired and where speedy action is considered imperative in order to prove fraud, the Internal Auditor may call in the Police without reference to other officers. He will however advise the Clerk soon as practicable afterwards.

- Major and more Complex Frauds:

The Internal Auditor will discuss the case with the Clerk, and consultation with the Police will normally be approved.

Depending upon Police advice, the case will be reviewed by the above officers who will decide if it should be referred officially to the Police for investigation. If it is decided to do so the Clerk will authorise the official complaint and notify the Chairman of the Board/Commissioners.

Following the official report to the Police, any further investigations by the Internal Auditor that are considered necessary, will be planned and executed in close co-operation with the Police, with the Clerk and the Chairman being kept informed.

The circumstances of the particular case will dictate when the Police and District Auditor are informed, but it is recommended that the Police should be informed when:-

- There is evidence of an irregularity which needs to be confirmed by witness interview if criminal prosecution is contemplated;
- Interview of the suspect is desirable to confirm the evidence of records;
- A prima facie case of fraud has been established but the perpetrator could not be identified.

INVOLVING THE POLICE

The Internal Auditor and Clerk may be reluctant to involve the Police in the belief that:-

- They are only interested if the alleged criminal offence is greater than a specific monetary value

- They will not be interested because of the potential complexity of the issues involved which render little chance of a successful prosecution
- The organisation prefers to deal with such incidents internally, avoiding publicity but implementing dismissal and recovery through civil action
- The Police will want hard evidence before they will pursue investigations, but when it is provided they advise that the rules of evidence have not been complied with.

Protracted internal investigations often unnecessarily delay involving the Police, thereby diminishing the value of co-operation with them. However, properly organised investigations, conducted by individuals with an inside working knowledge of the organisation, will be of great assistance to any subsequent Police enquiry, and management should therefore not be discouraged from liaising with the Police as soon as the issues are identified.

Publication Scheme for Benwick Internal Drainage Board

This is a Publication Scheme for Internal Drainage Boards (IDB). There are over 200 IDBs in England and Wales and their duties and powers are specifically provided for by the Land Drainage Acts 1991 and 1994. Duties include general supervision over all aspects of land drainage within the district, duties to conservation and raising income to support land drainage works. The purpose of this Publication Scheme is to be a means by which Internal Drainage Boards can make a significant amount of information routinely available.

Further information about the Freedom of Information Act 2000 can be obtained from

The Information Commissioner (<http://www.informationcommissioner.gov.uk>)

The Lord Chancellor's Department (<http://www.lcd.gov.uk/foi/foipunit.htm>)

Section 1 – Introduction

The Freedom of Information Act 2000 gives a general right of access to all types of recorded information held by public authorities, sets out exemptions from that right and places a number of obligations on public authorities. An internal drainage board is deemed to be a public authority for the purposes of the Act. Any person who makes a request for information to a public authority must be informed whether the public authority holds the information and, subject to exemptions, be supplied with that information. The Lord Chancellor's Department set January 1st 2005 as the date this right comes into force.

A general right of access to information is provided in the form of a publication scheme. Every public authority is required to adopt and maintain a publication scheme setting out the classes of information it holds, the manner in which it intends to publish the information, and whether a charge will be made for the information. The purpose of a scheme is to ensure a significant amount of information is available without the need for a specific request. Schemes are intended to encourage organisations to publish more information proactively and to develop a greater culture of openness.

In accordance with the Freedom of Information Act 2000 this scheme sets out classes of information which Internal Drainage Boards publish or intend to publish.

An Internal Drainage Board is a statutory public body operating under primary legislation to provide a water level management service within its prescribed drainage district. Copies of legislation can be obtained from TSO (The Stationery Office), PO Box 29, Duke Street, Norwich NR3 1GN Tel No 0870 600 5522 Web Site www.tso.co.uk.

It raises income through the direct rating of agricultural land and buildings in its drainage district and recovers through a special levy placed on constituent district councils or unitary authorities an income in recognition of the benefit arising from their work to all non-agricultural land and property.

IDBs are responsible to the Department of Environment Food and Rural Affairs (DEFRA) from whom all legislation/regulations affecting them is issued. The work of an IDB is closely linked with that of the Environment Agency (EA) which has a range of functions providing a supervisory role over them. Information on this aspect can be obtained from DEFRA and the EA at Web Sites www.defra.gov.uk and www.environment/agency.gov.uk.

IDBs vary in size from a few hundred acres to tens of thousands of acres, which influences the arrangements in place for their administration. Large boards engage full time administrative and technical staff, while smaller boards contract work out or are managed under a consortium arrangement. The arrangement of the management of particular IDBs will affect the kinds of information they hold so consequently the information available through the scheme may vary between boards. By adopting this publication scheme the IDB is committed to publishing information in accordance with it.

All Internal Drainage Boards copyrights are reserved.

Section 2 – Areas of Information

To achieve the aim of representing information about IDBs in a clear and coherent way the classes of information are arranged under 7 broad subject headings. These are:

1. POLICY STATEMENT

The Board have, as a requirement of DEFRA, prepared a Policy Statement which is reviewed and updated as necessary and is available in this section.

2. BOARD MEMBERSHIP

The Board comprises those members elected by the agricultural ratepayers and those nominated by the special levy District Councils.

Elections for the agricultural ratepayers representatives are held every three years and a formal election procedure prescribed under the Land Drainage Act 1991 and Regulations is followed.

SAFEGUARDING PUBLIC MONEY

The monies held by the Middle Level Commissioners and the administered internal drainage boards and the Commissioners for Imbanking Fenlands and Low Grounds constitute public funds. The Commissioners and IDBs have therefore adopted the following framework to safeguard such funds.

Framework to safeguard public money

1. There must be in place safe and efficient arrangements to safeguard public money
 - (a) Regulation 4(1) of the Accounts and Audit (England) Regulations 2011 requires the Commissioners/IDBs to ensure that their financial management is adequate and effective. The Regulations also require there to be a sound system of internal control. This includes arrangements for the management of risk. Nowhere is this more important than when considering how to manage money.

What is money?

- (b) 'Money' includes cash and anything easily converted into cash. For example, a non-exhaustive list of money includes:
 - physical cash and notes, petty cash and unclaimed receipts, imprest accounts, cash in transit;
 - unpaid income held by debtors;
 - signed and unsigned cheques, drafts and other orders for payment;
 - current, deposit and investment accounts at banks and financial institutions and access to undrawn borrowing facilities;
 - credit cards (where held – see below), debit cards, store cards, fuel cards;
 - access to balances by telephone or electronic transfer; and
 - the ability to buy goods or services on credit.
- (c) This guidance applies to all accounts held with financial institutions, as principal or trustee, including controls over access whether physical or electronic. 'Public money' refers to all money controlled by the Commissioners or IDBs.

Roles and responsibilities of members

2. The effectiveness of the arrangements to protect money must be regularly reviewed
 - (a) The Commissioners and IDBs are responsible for putting arrangements in place to safeguard public funds. They may delegate the role of protecting money to individuals, for example to the Clerk or the Treasurer, but the legal responsibility always remains with the authority and its members.
 - (b) Therefore, arrangements should:
 - demonstrate how those responsibilities are met;
 - be current; and
 - include specific duties of individuals.
 - (c) The duties of such individuals may include:

- securely managing money;
 - identifying internal controls; and
 - supervision measures.
- (d) External advice and guidance to enhance internal expertise, skill or knowledge may be sought from time to time. Periodic reviews of arrangements should be reported to the Commissioners/IDB.
3. The Commissioners/IDBs must arrange for the proper administration of their financial affairs and that one of its officers has responsibility for those affairs

The duties of those charged with day to day administration of the monies of the Commissioners/IDBs include to advise the Commissioners/IDBs on their:

- corporate financial position;
- key financial controls necessary to secure sound financial management;
- cash and investment management; and
- on the requirements of the Accounts and Audit Regulations.

Corporate arrangements for monitoring and scrutiny

4. Income and expenditure and the money represented by each must be protected and controls over money must be embedded in Financial Regulations
5. The Commissioners/IDBs must approve the setting up of and any changes to accounts with banks or other financial institutions
6. Corporate credit card accounts must be set up to operate within defined limits and cleared monthly
7. The Commissioners/IDBs must approve every bank mandate, the list of authorised signatures for each account, the limits of authority for each account signature and any amendments to mandates
- (a) Financial Regulations should set out clearly the responsibilities of those handling money.
- (b) Internal controls should include clear arrangements for the temporary holding, transit and storage of cash and clear rules about the frequency of banking. Those handling money and those with responsibilities for controls should be aware of the terms of the insurance cover for money movement and security.

Corporate controls to manage risk, error and fraud

8. Risk assessment and internal controls must focus on the safety of the Commissioners'/IDBs' assets, particularly money

To the extent possible, the Commissioners/IDBs should apply and monitor a clear segregation of duties regarding money and its movements.

9. Those with direct responsibility for money must undertake appropriate training from time to time
- (a) Members should keep themselves informed about known risks and threats to money. The Commissioners/IDBs may engage with police and local anti-fraud and corruption networks to keep up to date with risks and security threats.
 - (b) Fidelity Guarantee insurance or any other form of security is not by itself sufficient protection over threats to money or other assets. Risk assessed insurance should, however, always cover maximum exposure to loss of money.
 - (c) Bank reconciliations should be carried out at intervals of no greater than monthly and will be reported through the Commissioners'/IDBs' Annual Return. In the event of bank reconciliation discrepancy, explanations should be checked and verified.
 - (d) The Commissioners/IDBs have authorised those approved on their bank mandate to make payments to suppliers between meetings. However the Commissioners/IDBs must receive a schedule of paid accounts at every annual general meeting, listing all payments that have been made to suppliers during the reporting period.
 - (e) Internal audit should review and report on controls over money annually.
 - (f) The Commissioners/IDBs may from time to time request written confirmation of balances from the bank/financial institution. This may be more frequent where paper statements are not received and reliance is placed on electronic information.

BENWICK INTERNAL DRAINAGE BOARD

Schedule of Matters Reserved for the Board

The thinking behind having a Schedule of Reserved Matters for the Board is that, without such a Schedule, many decisions that the Board would expect to take can fall within the delegated authority of an executive, committee or joint committee. The existence of a schedule of matters reserved for the Board provides an internal safety net to ensure that these decisions have to be referred to the Board. It also simplifies the process of delegation and makes it easier for the Board to give executives and committees the powers they need to perform their functions. Broader powers can be delegated if they are made subject to the exceptions set out in the schedule. A schedule also allows corporate-wide changes to be made without having to alter the terms of delegation for each individual or committee. The main disadvantage of this approach to delegation is that those who exercise delegated powers are not always as knowledgeable as they should be about the contents of the schedule, a particular danger when the schedule has been amended. No matter how effective a Board may be it is not possible for members to have hands on involvement in every area of the Internal Drainage Board's business. An effective Board controls the business but delegates day to day responsibility to the executive management. That said there are a number of matters which are required to be, or, in the interests of the organisation, should only be decided by the Board as a whole. It is therefore incumbent upon the Board to make it clear what these 'Reserved Matters' are.

Benwick Internal Drainage Board "the Board"

Whistle Blowing Policy and Confidential Reporting Code

POLICY AIMS

The aim of this policy is to maintain a working environment where people, whether they are employees of the Board, suppliers, contractors, members or private individuals co-opted on to committees of the Board are able to raise concerns where they think there is misconduct or malpractice, and to know that their concerns will be taken seriously and investigated. The policy is intended to give confidence to employees to whistle blow and, as such, it incorporates statutory provision for protection under the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998. Members of the public may also have concerns. That is why we have produced this whistle blowing policy not only to help our staff but we will publish this document on our website to enable the public to also contact us with their concerns.

OUR COMMITMENT

The Board attaches high priority to ethical standards and probity and is committed to taking appropriate action where misconduct or malpractice is identified. We are committed to being open, honest and accountable. The Board will protect both former and current staff from being penalised for raising concerns about misconduct or malpractice provided that allegations are made in good faith and without mischievous or malicious intent.

The following are affected by this policy:

- All former and current employees
- Board Members
- Private individuals co-opted on to committees of the Board
- Suppliers and those providing services under a contract whether working for the Board on Board premises or their own premises.

INTRODUCTION

Employees are often the first to realise that there may be something seriously wrong within the Board. However, they may not express their concerns because they feel that speaking up would be disloyal to their colleagues or to the Board. They may also fear harassment or victimisation. In line with the policy statement we encourage employees and others that we work with, who have serious concerns about any aspect of the Board's work, to come forward and voice those concerns. We wish to make it clear that they can do so without fear of victimisation, subsequent discrimination or disadvantage. This 'Whistle blowing Policy and Confidential Reporting Code' aims to encourage and make it possible for employees to raise serious concerns within the Board rather than overlooking a problem or 'blowing the whistle' outside the Board.

AIM AND SCOPE OF THE POLICY

This policy aims to:

- encourage anyone to feel confident in raising serious concerns and to question and act on their concerns about practice
- provide avenues for anyone to raise those concerns and receive feedback on any action taken and make sure that anyone receives a response to their concerns and that they are aware of how to pursue them if they are not satisfied

- reassure anyone that they will be protected from possible reprisals or victimisation if they have a reasonable belief that they have made any disclosure in good faith.

There are existing procedures in place which make it possible for staff to lodge a grievance relating to their own employment. This policy is intended to cover major concerns that fall outside the scope of other policies and procedures. These concerns include:

- conduct which is an offence or a breach of law
- disclosures related to miscarriages of justice
- health and safety risks, including risks to the public as well as other employees
- damage to the environment
- the unauthorised use of public funds
- the Board's Constitution (including Standing Orders or Other Regulations etc) not being observed or are being breached by members and/or officers
- possible fraud and corruption
- sexual or physical abuse
- other unethical conduct
- information relating to any of the above being deliberately concealed or attempts being made to conceal the same.

This means that any serious concerns anyone has about any aspect of service provision or the conduct of officers or members of the Board or others acting on behalf of the Board can be reported under this policy. This may be about something that:

- makes anyone feel uncomfortable in terms of known standards,
- is against Financial Regulations, Board Procedure Rules, etc
- falls well below established standards of practice
- amounts to improper conduct.

The concerns must however be raised in the public interest.

What is not covered?

This policy cannot be used to deal with serious or sensitive matters that are covered by other procedures. Such procedures include the following:

- Staff complaints about their employment. These complaints are dealt with through our Grievance Procedure
- Complaints about our services. These complaints are dealt with through our Complaints Procedure

SAFEGUARDS

The Board is committed to good practice and high standards and wants to be supportive of employees. It is recognised that the decision to report a concern can be a difficult one to make. If what is being reported is true, there should be nothing to fear because the person reporting will be doing their duty to the employer and those for whom they are providing a service. Any investigation into allegations of potential malpractice will not influence or be influenced by any disciplinary or redundancy procedures that already affect staff.

CONFIDENTIALITY

All concerns will be treated in confidence and every effort will be made not to reveal anyone's identity if they so wish. At the appropriate time however, you may need to come forward as a witness.

ANONYMOUS ALLEGATIONS

This policy encourages anyone to put their name to an allegation whenever possible. Concerns expressed anonymously are much less powerful but will be considered at the discretion of the Board. In exercising this discretion the factors to be taken into account would include:

- the seriousness of the issues raised
- the credibility of the concern
- the likelihood of confirming the allegation from attributable sources.

UNTRUE ALLEGATIONS

If an allegation is made in good faith, but it is not confirmed by the investigation, no action will be taken against the person concerned. If, however, they make an allegation frivolously, maliciously or for personal gain, disciplinary action may be taken against them where appropriate.

HOW TO RAISE A CONCERN

If the person works for the Board, they should normally raise their concerns with the Clerk or the Board Chairman. Concerns may be raised verbally or in writing. Anyone who wishes to make a written report is invited to use the following format:

- the background and history of the concern (giving relevant dates)
- the reason why they are particularly concerned about the situation.

The earlier the concern is expressed the easier it is to take action. Although no one is expected to prove beyond doubt the truth of an allegation, they will need to demonstrate to the person being contacted that there are reasonable grounds for their concern. Advice and guidance on how to pursue matters of concern may be obtained from:

- The Clerk of the Board

Where possible It may be appropriate to consider discussing a concern with a colleague first and it may be easier to raise the matter if there are two (or more) of you who have had the same experience or concerns. Unions and professional associations may also raise matters of concern on behalf of their members employed by the Board.

If you are a Board member or a member of the public you should contact the Clerk or Chairman of the Board.

HOW THE BOARD WILL RESPOND

The Board will respond to any concerns. Do not forget that testing out concerns is not the same as either accepting or rejecting them. Where appropriate, the matters raised may:

- be investigated by management, internal audit, or through the disciplinary process
- be referred to the police
- be referred to the external auditor
- form the subject of an independent inquiry

In order to protect individuals and those accused of misdeeds or possible malpractice, initial enquiries will be made to decide whether an investigation is appropriate and, if so, what form should it take. The overriding principle which the Board will have in mind is the public interest. Concerns or allegations which fall within the scope of specific procedures (for example fraud or discrimination issues) will normally be referred for consideration under those procedures. Some concerns may be resolved by agreed action without the need for investigation. If urgent action is required this will be taken before any investigation is carried out. Within ten working days of a concern being raised, the Chairman or Clerk of the Board, depending upon who has been approached, will write:

- advising that the concern has been received
- advising how we propose to deal with the matter
- giving an estimate of how long it will take to provide a final response
- advising whether any initial enquiries have been made
- supplying information on staff support mechanisms where appropriate
- advising whether further investigations will take place and, if not, why not.

The amount of contact between the officers considering the issues and the person raising them will depend on the nature of the matters raised, the potential difficulties involved and the clarity of the information provided. If necessary, the Board will get further information from them.

The Board will take steps to minimise any difficulties which may be experienced as a result of raising a concern. The Board accepts that individuals need to be confident that the matter has been properly addressed. Therefore, subject to legal constraints, we will tell them the outcome of any investigation.

THE RESPONSIBLE OFFICER

The Clerk's office has overall responsibility for the maintenance and operation of this policy. They maintain a record of concerns raised and the outcomes (but in a form which does not endanger anyone's confidentiality) and will report as necessary to the Board.

HOW THE MATTER CAN BE TAKEN FURTHER

This policy is intended to provide anyone with an avenue within the Board to raise concerns. If internal advice is required before starting action, you may talk to:

- the Clerk's office
- the local union branch.

The Board hopes everyone will be satisfied with any action taken. If they are not, and they feel it is right to take the matter outside the Board, the following are possible contact points:

- the External Auditor
- the Internal Auditor
- the local Citizens Advice Bureau
- relevant professional bodies or regulatory organisations
- a relevant voluntary organisation
- the police
- the independent charity Public Concern at Work. Their lawyers can give free confidential advice at any stage about how to raise a concern about serious malpractice at work. The charity's contact details are: 020 7404 6604 / 020 7404 6576 / www.pcaw.co.uk/whistle@pcaw.co.uk (enquiries) / helpline@pcaw.co.uk (helpline) / Public Concern at Work, Suite 306, 16 Baldwin Gardens, London EC1N 7RJ

If the matter is taken outside the Board, you must ensure that you do not disclose confidential information. Check with the Clerk of the Board about that.

WHISTLE BLOWING DO'S AND DON'TS

Do

- keep calm
- think about the risks and outcomes before you act
- remember you are a witness, not a complainant
- phone Public Concern at Work for advice on 020 7404 6604

Don't

- forget there may be an innocent or good explanation
- become a private detective
- use whistle blowing procedures to pursue a personal grievance
- expect thanks.

The policy will be reviewed again if there are any changes in legislation or to the Board's employment structure.
